OUR STORY

Christine and Joe Sirna

In memory of our late mother Christine Sirna, we added a Kosher and Primus GFS certified 6,000 square foot produce processing facility when we expanded our Ravenna, OH warehouse in 2015.

Christine was the heart and soul of our family business; she loved coming to the office and interacting with the employees every day and in her honor, we will only provide the best quality of cut products to our valued customers.

In January of 2023, we lost our father Joe Sirna, whom we named our grab-and-go line of products after. If you knew Joe, you know he was always on the go, looking for opportunities to spend time with his friends and family.

We operate our Christine's Cuts division with them and their passion for foodservice and customer dedication always in the forefront.

Common Cuts

Chop

This is a chunky type of cut. If a recipe says "coarsely chop," your pieces should be bigger and roughly the same size.

Dice

A smaller cut than "chop" (usually less than 1/2-inch cubes), food should be the size of playing dice.

Mince

A very small cut, food is cut into very tiny pieces. Foods that are often minced include garlic, onions and fresh ginger.

Julienne

A.K.A matchstick; a long, thin cut, your pieces should look like long sticks.

Slice

This is the cutting of food into thin, relatively broad slices.

Wedge

A wedge-shaped cut of food, usually a section of a round or oval product.

Chunk

Chunks of something are thick, solid pieces of it about 1-inch or larger.

Bias

To slice a food crosswise at a 45-degree angle, cutting on the diagonal.

Coin

Is to slice it thinly, but according to its natural shape, without squaring it off.

Shaved

The cutting of something in such a thin slice; a shaving.

Halved

This is a cut when you cut an item in half lengthwise or crosswise.

Quartered

Quartering an item means to cut it into 4 equal parts.
